I am taking his class rn it's so cool. He always goes at a good pace to make sure you understand and lectures are easy to follow. Material can be tricky but he gives bonus points wherever he can. He gives a lot of guidance for assignments & is really understanding. Assignments are pretty cool so far. Also appreciate that he posts recorded lectures.

Dr. Zingaro is magical. His knowledge is like a warm breeze filling my mind with goodness. You can imagine being on a beach coding with his voice like waves soothing you to greatness. A beaver chews on wood, Dr. Z is like that beaver slowly cutting to the core of knowledge. A knowledge that is rough at first, then soft and tasty at its core.

Fantastic prof. Well-prepared lectures, engaging classes, always available for help, provides quick online feedback, grades fairly, well structured tests and assignments, well planned course outline, relates course material to relevant real-world events (while throwing in several absolutely useless but HIGHLY AMUSING personal anecdotes). Phenomenal

He is a great guy and really approachable. But he makes the course 10x more difficult than it is. Averages were very close to 50%. I wouldn't take him again because I don't feel like I am learning well in the lectures. When he course coordinates the course, it will get extremely difficult.

Winter 2022 CS Courses online?

I am a student from UTSC but wanted to take 2 courses at UTM in winter 2022 cuz they're offered online right now. CSC363 and CSC309. Since I don't go to UTM, I'm not sure what has been communicated to you folks about the winter semester. Are the courses planned online right now going to continue being online, or is there a possibility they change to in-person? I guess I may have to ask this again in 4-5 weeks when you guys may have a better idea!

Thanks in advance!
